PORT DU BON DIEU LOT 2 Namur (7,600 m² of offices): LAYING OF THE FOUNDATION STONE

La Hulpe, 11 April 2016

One of the city's real stakeholders, concerned about its future development, ATENOR, in accordance with the will of the regional and local authorities, embarked on an appropriate and ambitious development of the semi-industrial site that had become an urban wasteland at the gateway to the city of Namur, on the river banks.

Consequently, since 2012 a sizeable project has been in progress along the Meuse combining mixity, prestige, mobility and architectural quality.

Parallel to the construction of Lot 1 (18,300 m²) of this symbolic project, which includes a residential complex of high environmental and urbanistic quality and retail shops, ATENOR transferred the land of Lot 2 (7,600 m²) to the CBC bank in December 2014 for the construction of an office building and 113 parking spaces.

This building is to house the bank's future headquarters as it wished to centralise its business in Wallonia.

CBC is today holding the placement of the foundation stone there. We salute this symbolic moment in the strategic evolution chosen by CBC Bank. For the city, this moment also marks the last stage in the redevelopment of the Port Du Bon Dieu site led by ATENOR since 2008, the year of its acquisition.

The execution of the CBC's central headquarters complements this mixed district which fully embodies ATENOR'S philosophy.

The project will be accompanied by the redevelopment of the docks and the restoration of the continuation of the RAVel for the benefit of Namur's citizens.
